ABOUT ME

Ever since I enrolled in Sanford School in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia at age 8, the English language has always been a life shaping factor for me. Coupled with the writing skills I mastered as a journalist (2 yrs) and a PR Consultant (6 yrs), and my love of stage performance it was no wonder I found translation and interpreting to be the perfect match for me.

I truly enjoy the neverending learning and research these jobs require, and am always thrilled to explore the new areas of business and science my works take me to.

I am very proud of my key accounts, several of whom have been honouring me with their trust for more than a decade.
